

“Brief Encounters”

An Audio Visual Presentation
by

Paul Harris

For much of his professional life as a photo journalist and adventure travel photographer, Paul has documented people. What they do, how they react and how we connect and relate to the environment around us is both enlightening and photographically challenging.

This presentation will track some of Paul's personal and commissioned work from a journey following in the hoof steps of Genghis Khan to his more recent work in Greenland, India and Peruvian Amazon, and commissions from The National Trust and Yorkshire Dales National Park

Testimonials for 'Brief Encounters'

Durham Photographic Society
April 2017

"I must congratulate you on a talk that exceeded my already high expectations. Several long-serving members have already expressed their appreciation. It wasn't just the quality of the images which were outstanding, but also the unusual interest they held. Finally, the real success of the talk was your intelligent and sympathetic commentary. The members warmed to you as a person."

Chester Lecture Society
November 2019

Thank you for an excellent presentation last night. You entertained us admirably, not only with your beautifully composed and interesting photographs, but with a wealth of stories to accompany them. Everyone without exception was enthralled and said it was the best presentation this year."
